Troparion, Tone 2: When You went down to death, O Life Immortal, * You struck Hades dead with the blazing light of Your divinity. * When You raised the dead from the nether world, * all the powers of heaven cried out: * "O Giver of Life, Christ our God, glory be to You!"

Troparion, Tone 1: In giving birth you retained your virginity, * in falling asleep you did not abandon the world, O Mother of God. * You passed into life, for you are the Mother of Life, * and by your prayers * you deliver our souls from death.

Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit.

Kontakion, Tone 2: You rose from the tomb, O almighty Saviour; * and Hades, seeing this wonder, was stricken with fear; and the dead arose. * Creation saw and rejoices with You, and Adam exults. * And the world, my Saviour, sings Your praises for ever.

Now and for ever and ever. Amen.

Kontakion, Tone 2: The tomb and death could not hold the Mother of God, * unceasing in her intercession and unfailing hope of patronage, * for, as the Mother of Life, she was transferred to life * by Him Who had dwelt in her ever-virgin womb.

Prokeimenon, Tone 2 - The Lord is my strength and my song of praise, and He has become my salvation.

verse: The Lord has indeed chastised me, but He has not delivered me to death.

Prokeimenon, Tone 3 - My soul magnifies the Lord, and my spirit has rejoiced in God my Saviour.

Epistle: 1 Corinthians 9:2-12:

Brothers and Sisters, if I am not an apostle to others, at least I am to you; for you are the seal of my apostleship in the Lord. This is my defense to those who would examine me. Do we not have the right to our food and drink? Do we not have the right to be accompanied by a believing wife, as do the other apostles and the brothers of the Lord and Cephas? Or is it only Barnabas and I who have no right to refrain from working for a living? Who at any time pays the expenses for doing military service? Who plants a vineyard and does not eat any of its fruit? Or who tends a flock and does not get any of its milk? Do I say this on human authority? Does not the law also say the same? For it is written in the law of Moses, “You shall not muzzle an ox while it is treading out the grain.” Is it for oxen that God is concerned? Or does he not speak entirely for our sake? It was indeed written for our sake, for whoever plows should plow in hope and whoever threshes should thresh in hope of a share in the crop. If we have sown spiritual good among you, is it too much if we reap your material benefits? If others share this rightful claim on you, do not we still more? Nevertheless, we have not made use of this right, but we endure anything rather than put an obstacle in the way of the gospel of Christ.

Alleluia, Tone 2 - verse: The Lord will hear you in the day of tribulation; the name of the God of Jacob will shield you.

verse: Lord, grant victory to the king and hear us in the day that we shall call upon You. (Psalm 19:2,10)

verse: Rise up, O Lord, to the place of Your rest, You and the ark of Your holiness. (Psalm 131:8)

Gospel: Matthew 18:23-35

The Lord spoke this parable, “For this reason the kingdom of heaven may be compared to a king who wished to settle accounts with his slaves. When he began the reckoning, one who owed him ten thousand talents was brought to him; and, as he could not pay, his lord ordered him to be sold, together with his wife and children and all his possessions, and payment to be made. So the slave fell on his knees before him, saying, ‘Have patience with me, and I will pay you everything.’ And out of pity for him, the lord of that slave released him and forgave him the debt. But that same slave, as he went out, came upon one of his fellow slaves who owed him a hundred denarii; and seizing him by the throat, he said, ‘Pay what you owe.’ Then his fellow slave fell down and pleaded with him, ‘Have patience with me, and I will pay you.’ But he refused; then he went and threw him into prison until he would pay the debt. When his fellow slaves saw what had happened, they were greatly distressed, and they went and reported to their lord all that had taken place. Then his lord summoned him and said to him, ‘You wicked slave! I forgave you all that debt because you pleaded with me. Should you not have had mercy on your fellow slave, as I had mercy on you?’ And in anger his lord handed him over to be tortured until he would pay his entire debt. So my heavenly Father will also do to every one of you, if you do not forgive your brother or sister from your heart.”

Hymn to the Mother of God

Seeing the pure one’s falling asleep, angels marvelled in wonder how the Virgin could ascend from earth to heaven. And the Irmos: O pure Virgin, in you are conquered the bounds of nature,* for childbirth remains virginal and death is betrothed to life.* Virgin after childbearing and alive after death, O Mother of God,* never cease to save your inheritance.

Communion Hymn: Praise the Lord from the heavens; * praise Him in the highest. (Psalm 148:1). * I will take the chalice of salvation; * and I will call upon the name of the Lord. * Alleluia, alleluia, * alleluia. (Psalm 115:13)

Forgiveness

679. As children of God, with confidence we can ask for that which we need most: bread, forgiveness, the overcoming of temptation, and liberation from the Evil One. When we ask for the bread “that is for existence” (as the text of Matthew literally suggests), we ask the Father to give us daily bread, necessary for earthly life, and “heavenly” bread, the Eucharist. Anyone who eats of this heavenly Bread will not die but will live forever (see Jn 6:50-51). By this petition, Jesus Christ teaches us “to desire and ask for that which is indispensable for our life and the life of our neighbours, and also to be satisfied with the essential and not to crave the superfluous. He also teaches us to desire life in evangelical poverty, to which all are called.”

680. By reciting the words “forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us,” we receive forgiveness from God the Father for ourselves inasmuch as we forgive those who have wronged us. The Father who forgives us our sins desires that we do the same: “For if you forgive others their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you; but if you do not forgive others, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses” (Mt 6:14-15; see Mk 11:25-26). An offense is not only a sin or wrong that has been committed; it is also the debt of a good deed not rendered. Thus a gift from God wasted or not made use of for God’s glory and the service of our neighbour, is an offense.

778. The proud person usually does not see his or her own sin. This person is filled with self-love, finds it difficult to forgive, and to ask forgiveness of others, and has trouble relenting. Such a person rejects all forms of authority and frequently flares up in anger. He or she bears grudges, constantly judges other people, and envies their successes. Pride deceitfully takes control even of those who, having achieved virtue, regard themselves, rather than God, as the cause of their achievements.

 To Ponder *****

“Never has the world had a greater need for love than in our day. People are hungry for love. We don’t have time to stop and smile at each other. We are all in such a hurry! Pray. Ask for necessary grace. Pray to be able to understand how much Jesus loved us, so that you can love others.” St. Mother Teresa of Calcutta

“Happiness is not found in selfishness. It is found in generosity. To be happy, we need to get out of ourselves a little, to give away our heart and all the good things we have. Giving is intimately related to loving and giving and loving are things of God.”
Archbishop of Mexico City Luis M. Martinez

 Prayers *****

Prayer for the Afflicted People of Ukraine in Time of War

God of peace and justice, we pray for the people of Ukraine today. We pray for peace and the laying down of weapons. We pray for all those who fear for tomorrow, that Your Spirit of comfort would draw near to them. We pray for those with power over war or peace, for wisdom, discernment, and compassion to guide their decisions. Above all, we pray for all Your precious children, at risk and in fear, that You would hold and protect them. We pray in the name of Jesus, the Prince of Peace. Amen.

Prayer of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in these Holy Gifts! I love You above all things and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot receive You now, I place before You my whole life and hope, O loving Master; and I ask, pray, and entreat You: Make me worthy to partake in a mystical way and with a pure conscience of Your awesome and heavenly Mysteries: for forgiveness of sins, for the pardon of offenses, for communion of the Holy Spirit, for the inheritance of the kingdom of heaven, for confidence before You, and not for judgment or condemnation. I embrace You as You enter and abide in me, and I unite myself completely to You. Permeate my soul and body, and never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.

The Feast of the Dormition of the Most Holy Mother of God

"We extol you, O Most Pure Mother of Christ our God, and we praise your all-glorious Dormition." (Hymn of Praise of the Feast)

The very ancient, universal and profound cult of the Most Holy Mother of God left a special mark, above all, in our Liturgical Year, which is not only rich in the variety of feasts honoring Mary, but begins and ends with her feasts. The Liturgical Year opens with the Nativity of the Mother of God, and closes with her Dormition (i.e., her falling asleep), which in our liturgical books is also called, "The Dormition of the Most Holy Glorious Lady, our Mother of God and Ever-Virgin Mary".

Although the feast of the Dormition reminds us of the sad occasion of death, nevertheless, it belongs to the joyful feasts.

The service of the feast is filled with hymns of joy and gladness. On this day, holy Church rejoices because the Most Holy Mother of God was transferred body and soul from this earthly life to join her Son in eternal glory; because of her Dormition we have a powerful intercessor and protectress in heaven.

The day of the death of the Most Holy Mother of God is called the Dormition (or falling asleep) in our Church, for her body did not know corruption after death, but together with her soul was taken up into heaven; hence, another name for the feast is "the Assumption".

We have no historical data to indicate how long the Mother of God remained on earth after the ascension of Christ into heaven, nor when, where, or how she died, for the Gospels say nothing of this. The foundation for the feast of the Dormition is to be found in a sacred tradition of the Church dating from apostolic times, named the apocryphal writings, as well as the constant faith of the People of God, and the unanimous opinion of the holy Fathers and Doctors of the Church of the first thousand years of Christianity.

The earliest written tradition which speaks of the death of the Most Holy Mother of God is given in the work, which, in the Western Church, is known by the title "The Transition (i.e., death) of St. Mary"; in the East that same work has the title "Sermon of St. John the Theologian on the Dormition of the Mother of God". The author of this work is unknown. Some historians believe that the work dates from the end of the second or third century, while others place it at the end of the sixth century.

From this work, which we summarize here, we learn the details of the holy and wonderful Dormition of the Most Holy Mother of God:

“Three days before the death of Mary, the Archangel Gabriel appeared and announced to her from her Son, Jesus Christ, the time of her departure into eternity. On the day of her death, in a miraculous manner the Apostles gathered in Jerusalem, although they had been scattered in various countries of the then known world. St. Thomas was the only Apostle absent. The Mother of God expressed her wish to be buried in Gethsemane near her parents and her spouse, Joseph. Christ, in person, came accompanied by Angels and Saints to escort His Most Holy Mother to heaven. The Apostles, while singing holy hymns, carried the body of Mary to the grave where they remained keeping vigil for three days. On the third day, St. Thomas came from afar and desired very much to view for the last time the Most Pure Mother of God. When the grave was opened, her body was not there, only the funeral clothes in which the body had been wrapped. The Apostles then realized that Mary had been taken up body and soul into heaven.”

From the beginning of the sixth century, it was believed by many that the tomb of the Most Holy Mother of God was to be found in the Church of the Dormition in Gethsemane, while the Church on Mt. Sion was regarded as the site of her dormition. However, to this day historians cannot prove anything certain concerning the place of Mary's death and burial. Some believe that she died in Jerusalem, others claim that she died in Ephesus, where St. John was believed to have taken her. Even today a house in Ephesus is pointed out as the one where the Mother of God allegedly lived.

The liturgical cult of the Most Holy Mother of God began with the Council of Ephesus (431), which defined the dogma of her Divine Motherhood.

It was not until after the fourth century that, on the basis of tradition, church writers began to write about the final moments in the life of the Most Holy Mother of God. These include St. Gregory of Tours (594) in the West, and the Patriarch of Jerusalem, Modest (634), who was the first to have a sermon on the Dormition, St. Andrew of Crete (712), and St. John Damascene (749) in the East.

St. John Damascene clearly believed in the assumption of the Most Holy Mother of God, body and soul into heaven. In one of his sermons on the Dormition he says: "It was fitting that He, who preserved Mary's virginity after his birth, should also preserve her body incorrupt after death. It is fitting that She, who carried in her arms the Creator as a Child, dwell in the heavenly mansions. It is fitting, that she, who beheld her Son on the cross, while her heart was pierced with a sword of grief she did not know at the Nativity, should now look upon Him as He sits with the Father. It is fitting that the Mother of God possess all that her Son possesses, and that all creatures venerate her as the Mother and maidservant of God."

The whole tradition and faith of the Church of the first centuries regarding Mary's wonderful Dormition and Assumption body and soul into heaven, is reflected in our service for the feast of the Dormition. "Death and the tomb could not hold you, O Mother of God, " says the Kontakion of the feast, "who are our ever-vigilant intercessor in prayer and our unflinching hope in pleading for us.

For He Who dwelt in the ever-Virgin womb transferred the Mother of Life to life." Holy Church rejoices at the Dormition of the Mother of God, for she intercedes for us in heaven. In the troparion of the Feast we read: "O Mother of God, in giving birth to Christ you have preserved your virginity, and after the assumption you did not abandon the earth; you have passed from life, being the Mother of Life; and through your prayers you deliver our souls from death."

In the sixth century, this feast received its present day title: "The Dormition of the Most Holy Mother of God". Emperor Maurice (582-602) extended this feast throughout the entire Byzantine empire and commanded that it be celebrated on the 15th of August, for on that day he gained a brilliant victory over the Persians.

The feast of the Dormition appeared in the West under the influence of the East, at a somewhat later date. It was accepted in Rome under Pope Sergius I (687-701), and from Rome it passed over to the other countries of Europe. In the Western Church, beginning with the First Vatican Council (1869-1870), there has always been an attempt to establish as a dogma the belief of the Church in the miraculous Dormition and Assumption of the Most Pure Mother of God. Pius XII (+ 1958) took this task upon himself. After obtaining the opinions of all the bishops of the Catholic Church, in his Apostolic Constitution "Most merciful God" of the first of November 1950, he solemnly proclaimed to the whole world, "By the authority of our Lord Jesus Christ, the holy Apostles Peter and Paul, and our own authority, we proclaim, declare and define as a truth revealed by God, that the Immaculate Mother of God, the Ever-Virgin Mary, having ended the course of her life on earth, was taken body and soul into heavenly glory. "

In our Eastern Church we have the custom of blessing flowers on the feast of the Dormition.
